If you've ever wanted a personal success coach, or you feel that your group - of any age - could benefit from training in professional and personal protocol, call Success Coach Denise Leavell, Director of The Global Protocol and Etiquette Group, Georgia Branch at 404-376-8174 now for more information on presentations and full- or half-day seminars.

Denise Leavell is a highly skilled corporate business consultant and success leadership coach with experience in both the United States and international markets. She has combined a diverse background in the training and personal development arenas with her versatile interpersonal skills to meet her clients' protocol and etiquette intelligence needs.

Since earning her certification as an Etiquette and Protocol Consultant from the prestigious The Protocol School of Washington® in Washington, D.C., Denise has offered seminars, speeches, and programs in "Power Presence" and life and leadership skills to groups ranging from youth to top corporate executives.

Throughout her travels in the United States and overseas, and in her distinguished careers in law enforcement and in the military, Denise encountered people of many different cultures, social classes, and ethnicities. Studying people's interactions with one another, she developed a goal to help people better themselves by building their confidence through knowledge of business and social protocol.

Confident, well-trained, and very professional, Denise considers herself a partner in her clients' success. Her positive, outgoing attitude and personal integrity enable her to put her clients at ease, so they are better able to learn from her training. She believes that professional courtesy is the key determinant of true success at any age. Social skills and appropriate decorum create good impressions that lead to stronger, more respectful and productive relationships.

Though many people fear the very word "etiquette," with its prissy, rigid connotations, Denise coaches clients to project greater confidence in the way they present themselves and interact with others, earning their trust and respect. Denise's finely honed communication skills and great sense of humor keep her training non-judgmental and engaging.

Denise focuses on lifelong change for those seeking to improve themselves and find greater success. The most satisfying aspect of her work is seeing her success coaching and consulting change so many aspects of her clients' lives. Denise's seminars and programs lead to higher profits and achievement, not just in business but in everyday life as her clients' social confidence and comfort increase.
